Introduction

English sentences writing is one of the most important parts in learning English and to write English sentences fluently. In English, there are mostly four kinds of sentences, which are simple sentence, compound sentences, complex sentence, and mixed sentences (compound and complex). These sentences concern with every part of English grammar. From these four kinds of sentence diverges all kinds of English grammatical rules. In writing academic paragraphs, it is necessary to use four kinds of sentences appropriately. If someone is skillful in these four kinds of sentence in detail, he or she will be confident to write academic paragraphs and to translate whatever difficult sentences from every part of the world. Therefore, the four kinds of sentence are the key of English grammar.

These four kinds of sentences are not separate with phrases and clauses. Actually they are correlating with each other because all kinds of phrase, sentence transfer usage, and subject transfer usage include into the simple sentence. According to both modern and old grammatical theory, simple sentence is very useful in English. Moreover, narration- direct and indirect speeches include into clauses which are complex and compound sentences. Combining the complex and compound sentences, it is called as mixed sentence or complex-compound sentence. Therefore, the four kinds of sentence are very important in learning English.

In Mahachulalornkornrajavidyalaya University, Ayutthaya, Thailand, many Myanmar students are facing the difficulty which does not understand the meaning of the whole sentence though they know individual words in sentences. Actually, the reasons of these problems and difficulties are non-understanding four kinds of sentences which include phrases, clauses, sentence transfer, and narration. If they understand clearly the four kinds of sentence, they can understand the meaning of however long and confusing sentences. Moreover, they can translate easily every kind of English sentences into their particular language and they can write academic paragraphs without mistake.

In 2009, for a thesis of master of art at Sumatera Utara University in Indonesia, Yun Friska Irene Gintin had submitted a research about English sentence structure. In that research, the researcher had analyzed English sentence structures including four kinds of sentence. For that research, the researcher investigated Williams' a streetcar named desire play. The researcher stated that to be fluent in English sentences structure, it is necessary to understand four kinds of English sentences.

In 1989 for M.A Dissertation at Northeast Missouri State University, Glenn Edward had presented a research about sentence combination. The researcher investigated 67 ESL students' sentence combining ways. In that research, the researcher had described how to combine English sentences and how to use conjunctions. The researcher stated that to be skillful in combining English sentences, it is important to understand English clauses.

For Ph.D. Dissertation at the University of British Columbia, in 2018, Rosario E. Maminta had conducted a research about language structure. In that study, the researcher had investigated Philippine schools' curriculum of language structure from grade three through university. In the curriculum of language structure, the researcher analyzed English structures, phrases and clauses or composition and he described that phrases and clauses are very important to be skillful in English sentence writing.

For M.A Dissertation at MCU University in 2018, Sunjib Barua submitted a research about English Writing skill. For that research, the researcher had investigated English writing skill of fourth year B.A students at the Faculty of Humanity in MCU and for secondary data; the researcher had collected information from professional thesis, books, academics and journal. The researcher proposed that for English writing skill, understanding English composition, punctuation, narration and understanding English structure are very important for writing skill.

Even though described above the researchers have conducted those researches concerning with English sentence writing unfortunately, in Maha chulalornkornrajavidyalaya University, Ayutthaya, Thailand nobody has regarded a research about the difficulty in English sentence writing of the Myanmar students. Therefore, the present researcher investigate what is the students' difficulty in English sentence writing and why they have difficulty and then what is better way for them to solve the difficulty to write English sentences fluently.
